

Continuous Innovation. Tangible Results

Corporate Overview

Who we are. Compumatics Group specializes in building complex information collection, transformation, and distributions solutions, ranging from enterprise portals, business intelligence systems to secure, high performance Web applications.

What we do. We helped both government and commercial clients to implement mission-critical solutions, including highly personalized knowledge management applications, enterprise and E-Gov portals, content & records management capabilities, customer service, and business intelligence / analytical applications.

Where we excel. Compumatics Groups has clients in multiple markets:

- Public sector: Federal, state, and local government agencies
- Telecommunications: wireline and wireless carriers
- Financial services: banking, insurance, and capital markets
- Transportation: automotive, airlines, logistics
- Life sciences: biotechnology, pharmaceutical, healthcare
- Energy & Utilities: oil & gas, electric power, energy trading

How we deliver. Compumatics Group utilizes a comprehensive portfolio of integrated services to deliver its solutions:

- Enterprise architecture: business case development, requirements analysis, development of reference models, and capital planning,
- Business intelligence & analytics: user segmentation, needs analysis, data mart architecture, data aggregation mechanisms
- High performance Web applications: object oriented architecture, rules based personalization, database driven content management
- Software lifecycle management: implementation of Rational Unified Process, software defect management, source code recovery
- Program management: project value alignment , stakeholder management, program office setup, risk assessment,
- Contents & records management: development of publish / subscribe frameworks , content assessment / inventory
- Security services: audits, risk & threat assessments, intrusion detection, incident response, policy development and training

Clients

Major Federal agency:

“Compumatics Group managed and delivered several phases within our enterprise architecture project”

“We turned to Compumatics Group to redesign and implement the next generation document automation solutions”

Large insurance company:

“Compumatics Group’s expertise oin object oriented technology was instrumental in delivering the long term architecture blueprints for our mission critical policy management application”.

“We see Compumatics Group as our technology partner in several, critical IT application migration”

We can help

Contact Compumatics Group to learn how we can help you to deliver mission critical, information management solutions.

Sales@CompumaticsGroup.com